

AUTHOR AGREEMENT – Water Resources IMPACT
A Publication of the American Water Resources Association

It is mutually agreed that the article titled will be placed in the hands of the AMERICAN WATER RESOURCES ASSOCIATION (“AWRA”) together with any necessary artwork and proof of ownership, or permissions or assignments of copyright for quotations from text or illustrations published or copyrighted elsewhere. The article is to be published in the Water Resources IMPACT.

The author, _____, warrants that the article has not been previously published in a journal or proceedings or submitted for publication elsewhere. Further, the author warrants that the article is original and that it contains no matter which is libelous, obscene or infringes any existing right of privacy, copyright, trademark or any other statutory or common law proprietary or civil right, and is not otherwise unlawful. The author agrees to indemnify, defend and hold AWRA, its directors, officers, employees and agents harmless against any claims to the contrary.

The author grants to AWRA, for the full term of copyright available in each country worldwide under any copyright law now or hereafter in effect with respect to the article, any and all rights author may have in the article, including all rights under the copyright laws of the respective countries, including without limitation, book edition, electronic versions, general publication, transcription, translation, sound version, video, or any other version or media now existing and/or later to be created.

In consideration for the author’s grants as described herein, AWRA agrees to publish the article, and to market and distribute the published article in such style and format as it determines expedient including, but not limited to, reprints of the article, as well as film, facsimile, tape and electronic transmission. AWRA has complete discretion as to placement of the article and reserves the right to edit the article according to AWRA’s standard format and style practices and in order to fit space constraints within the publication. AWRA reserves the right to pull the article from publication at any time for any reason whatsoever.

Author _____

Date _____

N. Earl Spangenberg
Editor-in-Chief – Water Resources IMPACT

SPECIAL NOTE TO U.S. GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

Articles prepared by U.S. Government employees as part of their official duties need not have the assignment of copyright transferred since this material is automatically considered as part of the public domain.

If your article falls within this category, please check the following statement, sign below, and return this form with your manuscript.

_____ This article has been prepared as part of my official duties as a U.S. Government employee. I warrant that this article has not previously been published, and it is not currently being considered for publication by any other organization or business concern.

Author _____